

Call for papers

Celebrating the Thought of Blessed John Paul II

Women as Prophets and Servants of Truth

The Siena Symposium for Women, Family, and Culture invites papers examining the vision of Blessed John Paul II on how women together with men can build successful families and make history. We encourage submissions from a variety of disciplinary perspectives. Submissions from professionals and graduate students also welcome.

Presentations may explore aspects of the following topics:

- | | | |
|--|---|--|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Truth and prophecy• Sexual equality, difference, and gender dignity• Love's nature, creation, and preservation• The baptismal charism of prophecy• The vocation of the laity | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Family challenges• Role of families in culture• Complementarity• The role of love in culture• Prolife challenges & legal developments | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Women leaders<ul style="list-style-type: none">• healthcare• religious life & spirituality• education• law• Business |
|--|---|--|

Proposals of 1-2pages are due Feb. 17th. Presentations including Q&A will be 30 minutes. Submit proposals to rmlemmons@stthomas.edu. Be sure to include name, affiliation, address, and email address. Presentations will be limited to twenty minutes followed by Q&A.

Call for papers

Celebrating the Thought of Blessed John Paul II

Women as Prophets and Servants of Truth

The Siena Symposium for Women, Family, and Culture invites papers examining the vision of Blessed John Paul II on how women together with men can build successful families and make history. We encourage submissions from a variety of disciplinary perspectives. Submissions from professionals and graduate students also welcome.

Presentations may explore aspects of the following topics:

- | | | |
|--|--|--|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Truth and prophecy• Sexual equality, difference, and gender dignity• Love's nature, creation, and preservation• The baptismal charism of prophecy• The vocation of the laity | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Family challenges• Role of families in culture• Complementarity• The role of love in culture• Pro-life challenges & legal developments | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Women leaders<ul style="list-style-type: none">• healthcare• religious life & spirituality• education• law• Business |
|--|--|--|

Proposals of 1-2 pages are due Feb. 17th. Presentations including Q&A will be 30 minutes. Submit proposals to rmlemmons@stthomas.edu. Be sure to include name, affiliation, address, and email address. Presentations will be limited to twenty minutes followed by Q&A.