R. Mary Hayden Lemmons, Ph.D.
John Paul II's Contribution to Natural Law Theory: Personalist Natural Law

Society for Thomistic Personalism

"St. Thomas' overall philosophy and theology allows us to speak of Thomistic Personalism. We find in his system not just a point of departure, but also a whole series of additional constitutive elements that allow us to examine the problem of personalism in the categories of St. Thomas' philosophy and theology."

—Wojtyla 1961,
Thomistic Personalism,

"Personal subjectivity is the subjectivity that we experience as our own self in our own actions. This subjectivity is revealed to us in its true depth in the lived experience of moral value (good or evil), an experience always connected with the element of conscience in human actions."
